POWER RANKING DATA

The determination of the power rankings was completed through a compilation of data from <http://gameofthrones.wikia.com>.

In order to create rankings accurate to the storyline from the HBO series, a combination of information on house allies and the number of vassal houses under each Great House was used. A point was assigned to each house for every vassal house under their "control" or that was in allegiance with them. Additional points were assigned based on the alliances forged with other Great houses. Due to the complexity of the storyline, these points were given on a hypothetical basis, that being that if a house were to be attacked, each of their allying houses would donate half of their forces to them. As a consequence of this line of thought, the families with the greatest amount of allegiances pledged to them gained a large amount of power points. This system worked well until reaching House Targaryen/ Daenerys. Since there are no vassal houses under her name, and she holds no allegiances in Westeros, her point values were determined by a comparison to the military strength of other houses. With a combination of her military forces, advisors, and (spoiler)... dragons, she matched well with the power ranking of House Tyrell.

An argument could be made that due to her dragons she is far more powerful, however, I thought this was appropriate due to her lack of control over them. The data was calculated in an excel spreadsheet, and then inputted into the shapefile data in ARC map. Additionally, I would like to credit the creation of the shapefile by Cartographer's Guild user theMountainGoat. Here is a link to the file <http://www.sermountaingoat.co.uk/map/index.php>
